

Clyde Estabrook & Tote team
Rhineclondet wis 1940

JOM and a "couple of Pals"
in front of dinner tent for 50 woodsmen.

"Tote team" from main logging camp bringing a hot dinner to the logging crew, who were working too far from the main logging camp to go there for their dinner.

The Camp Chox boy, usually loaded up the hand made "gumpies" about 10:30 am or as soon thereafter as the Cook had the hot soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables, cookies, pies, etc. ready. When loaded on^{the} sleigh, blankets were thrown over it to keep it warm. At the tents, the foreman designated one of his men to go into the tents a head of time and build fires in the stoves.

Some times, the tents were equipped with tables but mostly, only benches. Clean dishes etc were furnished and the men helped them selves -

When all had all they wanted, the Chox boy Collected the dirty dishes. The waste was thrown out on the snow for the birds.

This camp was in Forest Co about 1940.

This guy hardly begged for some "Copenhagen Snoot" which the lumber jacks consume in great quantities.

Most of these big hardy are very fond of it. JOM
