State's Largest Sawmill Changes Hands This Week

Wisconsin Men Buy U. S. Leather Company's Stock in Rib Lake Plant

The Rib Lake Lumber company, Wisconsin's largest, will change hands this week. The Wisconsin men and money men have purchased the stock which was held by the United States Leather company. The deal had been pending since the deal was first announced during the first few days of 1936.

The company will remain in the hands of Wisconsin men and men from other states in the Rib Lake area. The men are engaged in all the work including the job of operating the mill, which is located on the Rib Lake. The Rib Lake saw mill at Rib Lake is the largest in Wisconsin. It has a capacity of 100,000 board feet of lumber a day.
